

John Manzoni

Incoming President and CEO Talisman Energy Inc.

John Manzoni is a highly experienced, well-rounded and respected international oil and gas executive. During his 24 years with BP p.l.c. he helped it grow to become one of the world's largest energy companies. He has held senior strategic and operational leadership roles in different lines of business at the global, regional and local levels. And he is known for his creative strategic thinking, his global outlook and his focus on results.

Like other successful executives in the largest energy companies, Mr. Manzoni was moved rapidly into different positions during his career with BP. He led the development of business strategies and the control of performance management in all parts of various businesses. He led reorganizations and restructurings along global and other lines. And he managed the integration of acquired companies including Amoco, then the largest industrial merger in business history.

Mr. Manzoni undertook these responsibilities from a number of increasingly senior positions within different areas of the company. Within the central BP Group he served as Manager, Investor Relations; Manager, Group Planning; Regional President, Eastern United States and, between 2002 and 2007, Chief Executive, Refining & Marketing, spanning six different businesses across more than 100 countries.

Mr. Manzoni began his career in a number of roles within BP Exploration. He served in various engineering and operations positions, as Executive Assistant to the Chief Executive Officer and as Vice President, running the Prudhoe Bay oilfield. He also held leadership responsibilities in the UK, USA, Norway and in the Gas and Power business.

John Manzoni earned his Bachelor of Science Degree (1982) in Civil Engineering and his Master of Science Degree (1983) in Petroleum Engineering from Imperial College in London, the United Kingdom. He received a Master of Master of Science in Management as a Sloan fellow (1994) from Stanford University.

He was born in the United Kingdom in 1960 and is married with two daughters.
